Justice Harls, handed down the court's opinion, which was unanimous. An order was issued requiring that the mandate in the case be issued at

The opinion embraced a complete review of the case. Justice Harian said that there was no dispute that on the 6th of June, 1900, when the act under which this proceeding is brought became a law Cuba was "under the control of the United States," and

"occupied by this government."

The court said the question of Cuba's status was not difficult of solution and cited successive steps in and affecting the case. It said:

"The facts above detailed make it clear that Cuba is foreign territory sense, a part of the territory of the it digests what you eat. McMaster United States. While by the act of April 25, 1898, declaring war between this country and Spain, the president was directed and empowered to use our entire land and naval forces as well as the militia of the several States to such extent as was necessary to carry the act into effect, that autherization was not for the purpose of making Cubs an integral part of the United States, but for the purpose only of compelling the relinquishment by Spain of its authority and government in that island and the withdrawal of its forces from Cuba and Cuba waters. The legislative and executive branches of the government by the joint resolution of April 20, 1898, ex pressly disclaimed any purpose to exercise sovereignty, jurisdiction or control over Cuba, "except for the pacification thereof," and asserted the determination of the United States, that object being accomplished, to leave the government and control of Cuba to its own people. All that has been done in relation to Cuba has had that end in view and so far as the court is informed by the public history of the other they will send to him by mes relations of this country with that island, nothing has been done inconsistent with the declared object of the war with Spain.

without interference ins The occupancy of the troops of the United States ne necessary result of the war. That result could not have been roided by the United States coneletently with the principles of international law or with its obligations to the people of Cuba. It is true that as between Spain and the United States -indeed, as between the United States and all foreign nations-Cuba, upon the cessation of hostilities with Spain, and after the treaty of Paris, was to be treated as if it were acquired terrifory. But as between the United States and Cuba that island is territory held in trust for the inhabitants of Cuba to whom it rightfully belongs and to whose exclusive control it will be surrendered when a stable government shall have been established by their voluntary action. When the United States required and enforced the relinquishment by pain of her sovereighty in Cuba and determined to occupy and control the island until there was complete tranquility in all its bord rs and until the people of Cuba had created for themselves a stable government, it succeeded to the authority of the displaced government so far at least that it became its duty under international law and pending the pacification of the island to protect in all appropriate legal modes the lives, the liberty and the property of all those who submitted to the authority of the representatives of this country. That duty was recogniz-d in the treaty of Paris and the act of June 6, 1900, so far as it applied to cases arising in Cuba was in aid of that treaty and in discharge of its obligations. The power of congress to make all laws necessary and proper for carrying into execution as well the powers enumerated in section 8 of article 1 of the constitution, as all others vested in the government of the United States or in any department or the officers thereof, includes the power to enact such legislation as is appropriate to give efficacy to any stipulations which it is competent for the president by and with the advice and consent of the senate to insert in a treaty with a foreign power. No orime is mentioned in the extradition act of June 6, 1900, that does not have some relation to the safety of life and property. And the provisions of that act requiring the surrender of any public officer, employe or depositary feeing to the United States after having committed, in a foreign country or territory occupied or controlled by or under the control of the United States, the crime of embezzlement or criminal malversation of the public funds have special application to Cuba in its present relations to this cou stry." The court declined, Justice Harlan stated, to enter upon the question as to what the obligations of the United States would have been in the matter of protecting life and property in Cuba if not required to do so by the obliga-tions of the treaty of Paris. The contention that the United States recognized the existence of an established government known as the Republic of Cubs, but is now using its military or

ARM' INCREASE

The Senate has been debating the House bill to increase the army, the ship subsidy bill having been displaced for the purpose. There is great urgency for the passage of the army bill, since the volunteers now in the Philippines caunot be withdrawn until provision is made for filling their place. They must all be mustered out by June 30 and in order to get them to this country the government will now, owing to the Senate's delay, be torced to charter transports, at an extra expense of $1,000,000 or $2,000,-000. By a decisive non-party vote the Senate amendment to restore the canteen system was rejected. The House had already voted to abolish the canteen. The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it-heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen -leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N.
